

KNOX OPPOSES LAW CHANGES

Does Not Approve of the Proposed Amendment Submitted for Consideration in Senate.

WOULD PERMIT ROADS TO POOL

He Believes Foreign Commerce Would Be Benefited at the Expense of Domestic Trade, at the Best.

[Special by Scripps-Mellae.]
Washington, Feb. 2.—Attorney General Knox in answer to inquiries as to whether the bill recently introduced in the senate to amend the interstate commerce and anti-trust laws so as to relieve foreign commerce from their operation and so as to enable contracts to be entered into "in reasonable restraint of commerce" was introduced with the knowledge and approval of the administration, replied "absolutely no."

In response to a question as to his views on the wisdom of such an amendment of the law he replied: "Just one year ago it was proposed to offer an amendment to one of the pending bills in congress exactly this same measure. At that time the president requested an expression of my views as to the proposed amendment, with the remark that its proponents claimed that it was in harmony with a suggestion made by me in an address at Pittsburgh. I then prepared and submitted to the president an expression of my views."

Would Legalize Pooling.
"I then said and still think the scope of the proposed amendment is so broad that one ought not to attempt to define its limits without long reflection. At first glance, however, it seems to me that it would have the effect of repealing section 5 of the act to regulate commerce, which is popularly known as the anti-pooling clause. That section makes it unlawful for railroads to pool their earnings or divide their traffic. As such pools were always held to be violative of public policy they were held to be unlawful at common law. But as the states had committed to congress alone the regulation of interstate commerce, the rule of the common law could not be applied to that commerce until congress acted, which it did in the act to regulate commerce."

Affects Foreign Commerce.
"That act was the result of most prolonged agitation, chiefly in the states lying west of the Alleghenies. Measures covering what is now the fifth section were under consideration in both houses for years. Voluntary of

THE POLICE TRY NEW THEORY IN MURDER CASE

Detective Lime Light Is Thrown Upon Several Prominent Bedford Men...Dis-closures May Follow.

[Special by Scripps-Mellae.]
Bedford, Ind., Feb. 2.—Another Bedford man has been added to the list of those suspected of the murder of Miss Sarah C. Schafer, the pretty school teacher. It is known that the detectives at work on the case are now investigating his movements on the night of the crime to the exclusion of all theories previously held by them.

The new suspect is a man of prominence in the community, although a resident of Bedford for only a few months before the murder. He is a middle aged man, unmarried and has been attentive to several young women of the village. A summary of all information obtained by the detectives tending to connect this man with the murder was submitted to the city council's special board of inquiry.

Points Against Suspect.
It is said on good authority to have been as follows:

That the suspect was acquainted with Miss Schafer and had shown her many attentions in the week preceding the murder.

That he boarded at the Johnson house, sat at the same table with Miss Schafer on the night of the murder, and left the house a few minutes before the young woman.

That his route homeward was the same as that taken by Miss Schafer, and that his whereabouts during the rest of the evening have not been accounted for.

That he left Bedford early the next morning before the body of the young woman was discovered, and did not return to the village until recently.

That during his absence a note signed with his initials was received by testimony were taken respecting the subject and the most thorough debate resulted, after which the anti-pooling clause was adopted.

"The amendment also proposes to repeal the interstate commerce law and the anti-trust law so far as foreign commerce is concerned. This would result in giving foreign commerce an advantage over our domestic commerce. By means of such a power the tariff protection will be largely nullified. It is well known that the steamship companies and railroads have in instances combined so that foreign traffic has been carried from Berlin to Chicago at rates 60 per cent lower than similar goods made in this country could be transported from New York to Chicago. This has frequently been carried from Wales to Chicago at a lower rate than the railroads would carry the manufactured in Pittsburgh to Chicago."

Owe Duties to the People.
"While it may be a wise policy to incorporate the rule of reasonableness into the regulation of law by contracts between individuals and contracts of industrial corporations which are private corporations, that rule has never been applied to what are known as quasi public corporations—railroads, for example, which exercise public functions and enjoy public rights. They owe duties to the public as the consideration of the grant to them of public franchises, among which is the duty to refrain from restraining competition in rates, service and facilities. This amendment would tend to relieve them from many of their most important duties to the public. Its enactment, instead of being a protection to commerce, would be to effect an undoing of very much of the most important remedial legislation of the last fifteen years."

"The statement that the proposed amendment is in line with the suggestion I made in an address at Pittsburgh in October, 1902, is a great mistake—a mistake based upon a misconception of the rule of the common law and the difference between the application of the rule to undertakings that are strictly private and those that are public or quasi public."

The decision was favorable to the company and against the government. There are 90,000 acres of land involved and it is valued at $1,300,000.

RULING MAKES A BIG CHANGE

Decision of Supreme Court in Montana Favors Amalgamated Company Very Much.

NOT IN THE NATURE OF A COMBINE

Control of the Boston and Montana Mine Not Considered To Be Detrimental to the Public Policy.

[Special by Scripps-Mellae.]
Butte, Mont., Feb. 2.—The State Supreme court has reversed the decision of Judge Clancy of the District court of Silver Bow county in the famous junction case of John MacGinniss against the Boston and Montana Copper company and others, and MacGinniss and Lamm against the Parrott and Boston and Montana and Parrott companies from paying dividends or transferring property to the Amalgamated Copper company.

The decision is sweeping in favor of the Amalgamated company, and it releases about $3,000,000 of Boston and Montana and Parrott dividends, which the Amalgamated had been unable to collect.

Corporations May Hold Stock.

The court holds that the state law permitting one corporation to hold stock in another is constitutional. This is equally valuable for the Amalgamated, as it permits it to do just what F. A. Heinze, who was the real plaintiff, contended it could not do. It was Judge Clancy's decision in this injunction case last fall that brought about the suspension of the Amalgamated mines, as it threatened to prevent that company from holding Montana mining stock.

The court says the propriety of the action of the District court in granting the injunction restraining the payment of dividends to the Amalgamated company on stock held by it and the Boston and Montana depends upon two fundamental questions:

FIVE CHILDREN BURN IN EARLY MORNING FIRE

Entire Family of Little Ones Is Wiped Out and the Mother Cannot Survive.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Feb. 2.—At 1 o'clock in the morning the residence of Peter Christiansen was destroyed by fire, his five children, ranging in ages from a babe in arms to 11 years were burned to death and Mrs. Christiansen was burned so that she will die. The husband was in the country at the time. No one knows how the fire started. The dead:

Edna Christiansen, age 11 years.
Frank Christiansen, age 8 years.
Lila Christiansen, age 4 years.
Jane Christiansen, age 2 years.
Baby Christiansen, age 6 months.

Just before 1 o'clock Mrs. Christiansen awoke and discovered the interior of her house in flames. She rushed to another room, where the children were sleeping. That room was a mass of flames and it was impossible to gain an entrance.

Mrs. Christiansen ran into the street and raised an alarm. This aroused the neighbors and an alarm was turned in. The neighbors then turned their attention to the house, but as it was of wood it burned rapidly and was consumed before the department arrived. The bodies of the children were cremated, only the blackened trunks remaining.

Mrs. Christiansen is terribly burned about the face and body. She said when she awoke the rooms seemed to be filled with flames. When she went to bed at 10 o'clock there was a fire in the kitchen stove, but it was low. This was the only fire in the house.

TELEPHONE GIRLS GO ON STRIKE

Resent the Appointment of Young Woman Ahead of Them.

Centralia, Ill., Feb. 2.—A strike took place at the local office of the Central Union Telephone Company. The chief operator and eight of the girls quit work because Manager O. G. Springer installed Miss Margaret Fosdyke of Fairfield, Wis., as chief operator, thus setting each girl back one degree in the scale of promotion with a consequent decrease in wages. As the girls left the building they met a young woman who had been summoned as substitute, but on being informed of the situation she refused to work and at once joined the union. Manager Springer is operating the office with a reduced force.

Did the transaction by which the Amalgamated acquired a majority of the shares in the Boston and Montana have its purpose, or result, in the formation of a trust within the meaning of the law, and, if not, is it in violation of the rights of the plaintiff for the Amalgamated to own and vote shares of the stock in the Boston and Montana, so long as its power is not used to the detriment of the plaintiff?

Both questions are answered in the negative.

Likes the Decision.

New York, Feb. 2.—William Scallan, the leading legal adviser of the Amalgamated Copper company, who is now in this city, made this statement:

"The decision is one of the greatest importance. It involves the very right of existence of the Amalgamated Copper Company in the state of Montana. It involves the right to own stock, to vote it and draw dividends on it; also whether the Amalgamated Copper company is a trust prohibited by the Montana laws. On all these points the decision is favorable. It holds that the company has the same right as a stockholder that an individual would have, and that it is not a trust or monopoly. This is a simple act of justice by the Montana Supreme court which had been denied by the lower court."

In other quarters it was said that the most important feature from a financial standpoint was the fact that the decision released all dividends which had been tied up by the MacGinniss injunction.

ISSUE ULTIMATUM TO UNITED MINeworkers

Rejection of Operators' Proposition May Result in Trouble in the Competitive Districts.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 2.—The coal operators of the competitive district who are meeting with the representatives of the United Mine Workers in the annual joint wage conference in this city have issued their ultimatum, to President Mitchell, and are now awaiting its acceptance or rejection by the miners.

Should the miners accept the proposition the interstate movement will remain intact. Should they reject it the movement will be temporarily disrupted and a strike, probably will result in the competitive states of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

The miners declare they will accept no reduction, and the operators have taken a resolute stand. Although the demands of the operators as stated in the open convention called for a reduction of 15 per cent, it is known that their ultimatum issued at the meeting of the scale committee embodies the provisions of the scale of 1902, which is about 12 per cent less than the present scale and calls for a reduction of 10 cents per ton on lump coal and a reduction of 6 cents per ton for mine run.

Mine workers who are on the scale committee stated that they will accept no reduction and before submitting to it will strike. They say the least they will accept is a reaffirmation of the present scale.

DECLARES THEFT IS NO CRIME

Cleveland Judge Upholds Starving Man in Stealing Bread.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 2.—"It is no crime for a starving man to steal bread," said Police Judge Fielder after he had heard a prisoner's story. Willis Brown, aged 29, admitted this theft of bread, but said: "I was sick and out of work. I had to steal or starve. I have only a few days to live. Judge, let me die a free man." I could find no man guilty of stealing bread when starving," said the court. "The disciples plucked grain from the roadside to sustain life, and Christ reproved the multitude who 'chided' them." The man was taken to the city hospital.

SHORT MEETING OF THE COUNCIL

LITTLE BUSINESS OF IMPORT-ANCE TRANSACTED LAST NIGHT.

MAYOR EXPLAINS POSITION

Tells Why He Signed This Present
Interurban Franchise—What Will Be Done.

By frequent use of the telephone in the city clerk's office six aldermen, a necessary quorum, were brought together at the city hall last evening and a regular meeting was held. Mayor Wilson was ill. Judge Sale was reported confined to the house and Aldermen Schmiedley, Murray and Hemming were absent. It was just eight o'clock when Alderman Judd, as presiding officer called the council to order and it was barely half-past when Alderman Judd moved to adjourn and without a dissenting vote the six aldermen fled out of the council chamber and the janitor turned off the lights. "The quickest on record," said one alderman.

Nothing important was transacted. The usual batch of bills was presented and voted upon; the only one which was in any way discussed was an account of $5.20 for cleaning the right of way of the street railway. Alderman Matheson asked the city attorney's opinion regarding the payment of this small account and City Attorney Burpee told the council that in investigating the franchise of the Janesville Street railway he found that the road was only compelled to keep the snow cleared from the tracks so as not to endanger passing vehicles; that Street Superintendent Watson had this snow removed because it was piled upon streets so as to be dangerous and that as he had not notified the council of the work previous to its being done and they in turn notified the road he thought the council would have to make the city pay for the work and this was included in the rest of the bills.

Mayor's Statement
Mayor Wilson had sent a communication to the council explaining his act of signing the franchise to the Southern Wisconsin Interurban company. City Attorney Burpee explained to the reporters that his honor not signed this franchise as passed; the whole work of passing a new franchise would have been necessary before the freight clause could have been added. His letter was as follows and was ordered by Alderman Judd to be placed on file.

Gentlemen: In affixing my signature to the franchise adopted by the common council at its previous meeting in favor of the Southern Wisconsin Interurban railway company, a brief explanation should follow. It is to be regretted that the franchise should be unsatisfactory to the company, also the fact that they are not likely to accept its terms and provisions.

The franchise could not be amended after its adoption by the council but can be at any time in the future now that it remains in existence.

Yours respectfully,
A. O. WILSON,
Mayor.

Fire Escapes
City Clerk Badger had a communication from Chief Engineer Klein to the effect that the council should order two fire escapes on the east side of the city hall with signs "This way to the fire escape." It was referred to the committee on public buildings and this committee reported favorably on it and the committee was ordered to secure bids for and provide the fire escapes. Some discussion came up as to cost, but it was decided that as the fire escapes had to be built this was to be left to the committee. Alderman Schwartz suggested that the committee act in conjunction with other property owners who have to purchase fire escapes and thus secure a bulk rate for the entire lot.

Smith's Warning
As an aftermath to the passage of the franchise for an interurban two weeks ago the city clerk read the warning of Mr. Smith who claims to own the city railway and signed himself as president of the Rock River Traction company, telling the council not to pass any franchise that infringed upon the original franchise of the local company which ran from 1885 for thirty years. No action was taken on this matter, the notification having been filed after the meeting two weeks ago.

Small Business
Notification of the suit of Ann Manion against the city for alleged injuries on a defective sidewalk in October of 1903 to the sum of $2,620 was made and the question as to whether the city owed the county a fifty-dollar license fee for each of the city brewers was referred to the city attorney for opinion. The municipal court report for January was approved and the pay roll for the month of January approved. Five copies of Wright's new county directory were ordered purchased at a cost not to exceed $20, and two licenses were ordered transferred from Charles Young and Charles Johnson to Herman Kath and Michael Bub.

CANDLEMAS DAY WAS OBSERVED

The Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary Celebrated in the Catholic Churches.

Today is observed in the Catholic world as the feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin. The feast is known as Candlemas day, the day on which candles are brought to the church and blessed by the priests in sufficient quantities to supply the altars during the following year, and for use in the homes of the parishioners. Tomorrow, February 2d, is the feast of St. Blaise, on which day the ceremony of blessing throats is carried out. These feast days will be observed in the usual manner in the Catholic church of this country with mass each morning at eight o'clock, the celebration thereof to be followed by the special ceremonies appropriate to the day.

VACANT HOUSES ARE VERY SCARCE

Real Estate Dealers Say That Market
Is Slow, But Will Soon
Pick Up.

Vacant houses containing modern conveniences are reported to be extremely scarce in the city, while small houses without these equipments located on the outskirts of the city are not so hard to find.

Local real estate dealers report the market slow at present as it usually is at this time of the year, neither do they expect to see much building the coming season in the line of first-class residences.

A number of small houses are to be constructed and contractors report much repair work being arranged for. A number of houses are to be fixed over and other needed repairs placed on them. Aside from the general run of building, it is not expected that there will be much building in the manufacturing line, the coming season. Contractors say, however, that there will be considerable building in the state at which places Janesville labor will be employed.

MANY ARTICLES ARE BEING MISSED

Gloves and Valuable Wraps Disappear at Dances and Afternoon Parties.

That a kleptomaniac resides in Janesville and moves in the polite society of this little city is a question that is bothering many a hostess of the future. At a recent card party in the First ward several pairs of valuable gloves were missing when the ladies came to don their wraps. Worse than that, at a dancing party recently a valuable wrap was taken, of which no trace can be found by the owner. These two recent exhibits of the mania recall the fact that last summer at the golf links at an afternoon card party a small sum of money was missed from a pocket book that was left in the dressing room. The theft of the sealskin jacket two years ago is also brought into prominence again and the petty pickings made at many of the dry goods and drug stores during the Christmas holidays have also been spoken of. Evidently Janesville has a full-fledged kleptomaniac in its midst.

COURT STREET BRIDGE COMING

Alderman Lowell Presents Ordinance
That Bids and Specifications Be Asked For.

It is possible that before the snow flies again the old Court street wooden bridge will be a thing of the past and this important thoroughfare will have a fine new steel or iron structure that will not only be a thing of beauty, but a permanent improvement to the city. With this idea in view Alderman Lowell last night presented an ordinance to the council that bids for plans and specifications for a new steel or iron bridge be asked for by the council. This question came up last spring and when the bids were received it was found that the cost would be from eighteen to twenty-one thousand dollars. Since then steel has taken a drop in price and the same bridge could doubtless be built at the present time at a cost of twelve to sixteen thousand dollars. The importance of the Court street bridge is apparent to all the councilmen and doubtless this structure will be built during the coming summer. At present the bridge is in very bad condition and despite the temporary arrangements for safety must be permanently repaired very shortly.

GARBAGE MATTER IS TO COME UP

RESOLUTION LAST NIGHT STARTS
THE BALL ROLLING.

WILL DO AWAY WITH NUISANCE

Would Clean the Alleys and Stop the Bad Smells Prevalent Every Summer.

By a little resolution made by Ald. Matheson last evening it may be possible that before snow melts Janesville will be in line for a better and purer city as regards garbage collection and disposal. This important question was brought up by Mr. Matheson last evening in the form of a resolution asking that the sewage committee be instructed to consider the matter of garbage and public sprinkling. This question was referred to the committee on sewage, of which Alderman Mills is chairman and the matter will doubtless be brought up at the next meeting of the council.

The Plans
Alderman Mills said this morning that for some time past he has been working on some sort of rules and regulations regarding the collection and disposal of garbage in the city. He had a copy of the Madison ordinance regarding this subject and had studied the methods used in New York and other cities. By the next meeting of the council he hopes to have a report in shape which will be a working basis for the council to act upon.

No Definite
Dr. Mills is not as yet determined whether he will recommend that a system of garbage collection be made by wagons owned by the city or whether the regulations will merely refer to the way in which the private garbage collectors must make the collections. His idea is to have the alleys in the downtown district kept clean as Milwaukee street and to stop the dumping of ashes and garbage into the river within the city limits, at least.

The Madison Plan
Madison has a garbage system which nearly pays for itself. It has several specially built garbage wagons which make daily collections in the downtown district and collections in the residence portion at stated intervals. The wagons are heavy iron covered structures that allow no smell to escape and do not leak onto the pavement. It also has a disposal plant where garbage is burned, thus doing away with the chance of spread of disease. Some of the garbage is sold to farmers, the rest burned. Each person from whom garbage is collected pays a nominal sum that pays the cost of running the plant.

Separate Collections
Dr. Mills says that favors he favors a separate collection of the garbage from the ashes. This is the plan used in the cities and much simplifies the question. He would have one dumping place and exclude the river and the river banks, making it an offense to dump there. In this way he thinks the sanitary condition of the city would be much improved when the hot weather comes.

MATHESON TELLS OF THE MEETING

With the Committee of Ten Citizens
Regarding the Franchise Question.

Alderman Matheson told the council last night of the meeting held Monday morning with the committee of ten appointed by the mass meeting last Friday and stated that he thought that when the voice of all the taxpayers and residents along the right of way of both the proposed Southern Wisconsin and the Rockford, Deloit & Janesville Interurbans was expressed at the coming mass meeting next Friday the council would willingly comply with the demands then made and amend the ordinance regarding the freight clause. It was the express wish of the council that at the coming mass meeting of the citizens that residents along the right of way of the two roads be present as well as the business men of the city. By the signing of the ordinance Mayor Wilson has made it possible for the council to amend the franchise if they see fit at the next meeting of the council. Had he not done so the matter would have to be all gone over again from the beginning, which would have taken much time.

Mr. Matheson spoke of the courteous manner in which the committee treated the members of the council at the meeting and he thought all matters would be adjusted satisfactorily very soon. Talk about the city hall last evening was to the effect that if the freight clause was granted the proposed road the same privilege would have to be granted the Rockford line. The very Utopian plan of having both roads meet at some central point with a neat transfer station, similar to the one in Peoria, Illinois, was also talked of as a possibility of the future when both roads had started running.

VALENTINE DAY COMES VERY SOON

Will Be on Sunday This Year—New Designs Are Scarce—Some Old Comics.

Valentine day, which comes February 14, falls on a Sunday this year. It will arrive two weeks hence. Already the dealers in the tributes to good old St. Valentine are getting out their stock and putting it in shape for the future sales.

In many respects there is but little change. The sleighs lover with his eyes on something sweet, sentimental and a trifle, sleekening can get it, as he always could. There are the same old cupid shooting darts, flapping their silvery wings around hearts that look like Bartlett pears.

These and lots of others similarly sleekening will probably find a ready sale in the comic line there is but little change. There are the same old tributes to all your friends, including the wash lady and the scrub lady or the woman with a padlock on her mouth, and taken as a whole, there is no excuse for anyone going without a valentine this year.

AMONG THE WORLD'S WORKERS

News Notes From Various Sources of Great Interest to the Workingman..

Trenton, N. J., Typographical Union has won a fight for shorter hours.

It is said that the union machinists throughout the country are organizing to strike against an impending cut in wages, which is expected to take place shortly. In some of the other trades notices have been posted in the shops of reductions in wages, the reason given being dullness of trade.

Striking typographers who desire to return to work for the American Type Company of Barnhart Bros. & Spindler must renounce — a union and sign an individual contract. The strike was declared off several weeks ago by the international officers.

At Pittsburg, Pa., 600 members of the National Union of Brewery Workers have been given an increase in wages averaging 10 per cent.

Indianapolis hardwood carvers and workers are striking.

300 glass workers of Marion, Ind., are on strike for higher wages.

The House Committee on Labor has decided against hearings on the bill of Sibley, (Rep., Pa.) prohibiting officers of the government from entering into contracts for prison made goods. Wardens of state penitentiaries are against the measure and are expected to come before the committee to be heard in opposition. Labor organizations will be heard in favor of the bill.

The United Mine Workers' have grown as follows: For the year 1897 the average paid-up membership was 9,741; for 1898 it was 32,902, an increase of 23,161; for 1899 it was 61,887, an increase of 28,985; for 1900 it was 115,521, an increase of 53,634; for 1901 it was 198,024 an increase of 82,503; for 1902 it was 175,367, a decrease of 22,657, for 1903 it was 247,240, an increase of 71,873. During the year 512 new local unions were organized, 27 reorganized and 173 surrendered their charters, leaving a net gain of 366. There are now 22 organized districts and a total of 2,322 local unions paid up and in good standing.

A total of 1400 miners are on strike in several states at present.

Nearly every district in New Zealand and again reports that the building trades continue very busy, carpenters, plumbers, painters, etc. getting full time—and the highest wages in Australia. The numerous other industries are also in a flourishing state, and prosperity reigns supreme throughout that Labor-governed country, says the Workers of Brisbane, Australia.

The Age of Growing Speed.
Speed is likely to be the greatest discovery of the twentieth century. Indeed, motion especially adapted to transportation seems to be our greatest aim. We still remember the thrill with which we heard of the sixty-mile-an-hour train. It was nothing short of wonderful. Then came seventy miles and ninety miles. Early this year a monorailroad between Manchester and Liverpool, England, put the record up to 110 miles an hour. We had hardly become accustomed to this, hardly passed the stage of regarding it as a freak, when from Germany came the news that on the Marienfeld-Zessen military road an electric car made a speed of over 125 miles an hour. The news came with the statement that even higher records were expected, an expectation that was realized a few days later in the highest record yet obtained—130 1/2 miles an hour—Current Literature.

Women to Catch Smugglers.
Uncle Sam has seven women inspectors at the port of New York to make things disagreeable for women who would smuggle. Whenever a passenger ship arrives there is a woman inspector at the gangplank. If the vessel is one of the big, popular lines there are two or three. The women inspectors do their work as quietly as possible. Sometimes tearfully, but often in a state of indignation, the woman who is suspected of trying to smuggle follows the inspector up the gangplank to the steamer that has just arrived and into a stateroom, where the thorough search of her clothing usually brings to light valuable articles that are dutiable. It is usually found that the women smugglers are connected in some way with wholesale milliners and fancy goods dealers.

REV. RICHARD BOLAND
A LETTER WRITTEN FOR THE BENEFIT OF OTHERS.

Rev. Richard Boland, rector of St. Michael's parish, Lowell, Mass., writes as follows: "Father John's Medicine is unequalled as a preventive of bronchial and lung diseases which have been working such terrible havoc in our climate. We have used it ourselves and find it most beneficial in cases of prolonged coughs, colds and bronchial irritations. Its use renders the voice flexible and pleasant and it is for this reason invaluable to all public speakers."

The Badger Drug company, corner Milwaukee and River streets sell Father John's Medicine.

Curious Climatic Effects.

A review of the climate and agriculture of last year, which ranks as one of great agricultural produce, reveals some curious facts. Canada reaped the greatest wheat crop ever grown in the Dominion. Australia, on the other hand, had to endure the worst of all the disastrous droughts it has known, and the grain harvest was nearly ruined, and many millions of sheep, with thousands of cattle, perished.

Cabins Replace Steerage.

The old-time steerage of the ocean steamers will soon be a thing of the past. Most of the new boats have a "third cabin," which takes the place of the steerage, and with improvements that amount to a complete revolution. There is a dining-room, with revolving chairs and a printed bill of fare; and the sleeping accommodations are such as secure both privacy and comfort. There is even a piano, and the daily run of the steamer is bulletined just as it is in the first and second cabins.

Cultivate Egyptian Cotton.

American manufacturers require annually about $7,500,000 worth of Egyptian cotton. To supply this need the agricultural department has grown a number of experiment patches from various Egyptian seeds. Samples of fiber grown last year in these experiment patches have been submitted to experts in this country and Europe, and several of them have been pronounced equal to the best Egyptian.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpelide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water? If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it with Cantharides, Yarrow, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Herpelide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair root. It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpelide Co., Detroit, Mich.

People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy, Special Agents.

PURITY.
A pleasant odor or a pretty color pleases the senses, yet these qualities are often used to disguise impurities in soap. Intelligent people and physicians understand this point, there fore in cases calling for a pure soap insist on using and recommending castile soap made from olive oil. No animal fat, no artificial color, no strong perfume to disguise disgusting odors of over-ripe animal substances.

Castile soap, cheap enough to use for laundry purposes, pure enough to use on your baby. We have received 500 pounds of pure white castile soap in one-pound bars which ordinarily are worth 20 cents. We will sell them commencing tomorrow at 11c per bar. We want you to use it, feeling certain to make a friend at every sale. Respectfully,

MILTON.
Milton, Feb. 2.—The Orophilan banquet held in the college chapel Saturday night, Jan. 30, was the most elaborate thing of the kind the Orophilans have ever given. The tables were set in the form of a large cross and were beautifully decorated with ferns and carnations which it the Lyceum flower. The Lyceum colors, crimson and black were draped from the chandelier and from the walls. At 8:30 the guests were seated at the tables and served with a four course supper, after which the toastmaster introduced the speakers of the evening who were listened to with careful attention by all present.

Misses Leta Walton of Evansville and Harriett Stewart of Union spent Saturday and Sunday with Mignio Lee.
Ollie Armstrong had a very narrow escape from being burned to death on Thursday while playing on the floor with her little brother. A spark from the heating stove caught her dress on fire and her mother being in an adjoining room, heard her screams and rushed to her assistance and threw cold water on her, thus extinguishing the flames before she was burned very bad.
Mr. Bradley shot a bald headed eagle on Fred Miller's farm last week. That measured seven feet four inches from tip of tip of wings.
Miss Minnie Lee entertained a large number of friends at her home on Saturday evening. The evening was spent in playing progressive pit and dancing. Refreshments were served after which the guests departed, all having had a very enjoyable time.
Grace Thurman gave a large party to her boy and girl friends on Friday evening last.

FROM TEXAS -- VERMONT -- PENNSYLVANIA
More Praise—More Victories—For the Famous Tonic
PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.
"I WANT TO TELL THE WHOLE WORLD."
Writes Mrs. H. A. Welcher, Kingston, Texas, Cured of Fluxes and Ulcers of the Bowels by Paine's Celery Compound.
Paine's Celery Compound restores strength, renews vitality, regulates the bowels, and makes people well and strong. It is a standard and unfailing remedy in such delicate maladies as afflicted Mrs. H. A. Welcher of Kingston, Texas.
"I want to tell the whole world what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me," writes Mrs. Welcher. "For twenty-three years I have suffered with chronic flux or ulcers of the bowels. I have had eight or nine of the best physicians in the State at different times to wait on me, but never had any relief.
"I was treated by several of Knoxville's doctors. But after seeing so many testimonials, and so many that I knew, I was induced by my son to try a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound.
"Before I had used the first bottle I could feel quite a difference. I was getting stronger. I enjoyed my food more. After taking four bottles I was entirely cured. I only hope that the medicine will be placed in the reach of all suffering humanity."
"I wish I could tell every woman in the land how much Paine's Celery Compound will help them," writes Mrs. Nellie R. Baker, Springfield, Vt., "That Woman's Ills Can Be Quickly Relieved and Cured Forever by Paine's Celery Compound."
"I wish I could tell every woman in the land how much Paine's Celery Compound will help them," writes Mrs. Nellie R. Baker, Springfield, Vt., "That Woman's Ills Can Be Quickly Relieved and Cured Forever by Paine's Celery Compound."
"I gained thirteen pounds I am well again."
Writes W. H. Ross, Pittsburg, Pa., Cured of Malaria. "Never Felt Better in My Life."
This letter from a man who was cured twice—first from malaria, and later, of Nervous Exhaustion—will be read with interest by all those who are afflicted in similar ways. It is from Mr. Wm. Ross, 427 Smithfield Street, Pittsburg, Pa., and is dated September 21st, 1903.
"Last spring I was sick and debilitated from overwork. I was nervous and irritable, and could not sleep well. My appetite was poor, and I was incapacitated for business.
"I had taken Paine's Celery Compound before (and it had cured of malaria), so I decided to try it again. After taking three bottles of the wonderful medicine, I was once more in perfect health. I gained thirteen pounds in weight and never felt better in my life."
Malaria is a disease which weakens the entire system, and renders it particularly liable to the attacks of other diseases. All those who live in a malarial country should protect themselves not only from malaria, but from the ill which may follow it, by taking Paine's Celery Compound, which gives the system strength to throw off, and keep off, the attacks of disease.
"Do not waste time drugging your SYMPTOMS—Cure the REAL CAUSE—the NERVES."
—Prof. E. E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth University—
Famous Discoverer of Paine's Celery Compound.

GAZETTE PRINTING CO.

AN AGGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN.

Two years ago the conservative element of the republican party in Wisconsin were forced to conduct a defensive campaign against the machine of the party. False charges of a subsidized press and numerous other stories like ilk compelled the campaign managers to defend themselves from the charges brought against them and their element of the party. Now all is changed. The conservative element is ready for an aggressive campaign from now on. The machine leaders have been placed on the defensive side by the Sturtevant-Sturtevant letter episode and the exposure that Reformer Bancroft had been riding on a railway pass while he was a state officer. These with other disclosures regarding the internal workings of the machine have forced the leaders of that section of the party to do their best to explain the whys and wherefores. This campaign they are doing the explaining and the conservative element is the aggressor. The campaign has begun well in this regard and should be kept up. Carry the fight into the enemy's field. There are many more matters which if brought to the public notice can not be easily explained and which would more clearly than ever show the dangers of the machine power of the state. The school book matter came so late in the last campaign that it was never properly aired and never was explained. Why not ask for an explanation of this deal which added to the machine treasury materially.

A CANDID STATEMENT.

The statement of Hon. S. A. Cook of Neenah, published in last Saturday's Gazette, is not only a candid statement, but it appeals to every republican in the state, who places party harmony above personal ambition and party strife.

Mr. Cook is the candidate of no faction, and he has no theories to exploit, neither is he the exponent of reform lobbies. Like the great rank and file of the party throughout the state, he realizes the importance of uniting the party and placing it on a basis for effective work. Every republican in the state whose mind is not dwarfed by prejudice is free to admit that the party has been at variance long enough. The family quarrel has been unseemly, and so extremely bitter that many scars are left which time alone can heal. It is high time that this sort of a quarrel came to an end. The fact is generally recognized that harmony can only be secured through a change of leadership, and the party is fortunate in having two good men who stand practically on the same platform. Judge Baensch of Manitowish, was the first in the field, and his friends are rallying to his support in all parts of the state. Mr. Cook is also very popular and as time advances it will develop that the principles these men represent appeal to popular sentiment.

Wisconsin is one of the best states in the Union. The republican party is in the ascendancy, and under its wise and conservative management the state has prospered.

Their prosperity has continued in spite of reform measures sprung up on the people by the last administration. Measures that are impractical and which the people do not want.

When a man is well, common sense always suggests that he ought to be let alone. So when a state is doing well, and all interests are working in harmony, it ought to be regarded as a crime to stir up dissensions and attempt to destroy these pleasant relations.

It is always easy for a man in the executive chair, to stir up strife between capital and labor. The leader who denounces corporations, always has a following. He is an agitator of dangerous type, because of the influence which his position furnishes.

Wisconsin has had this sort of a leader for the past four years, and his efforts have so antagonized the business and industrial interests of the state that today they are solidly arrayed against him. These interests which are vital to the welfare of the state, can never harmonize under his leadership, and it is high time for the state to recognize this important fact. The candidacy of both Mr. Baensch and Mr. Cook stand for more than harmony, which is very important, it stands for the best interests of the state, and means more than appears on the surface. If the prosperity of the state is to continue it can only be done through harmony of interests. The railroads are an important part of the state's equipment. Taxpayers and the interests of the people are mutual.

There is neither glory nor profit in antagonizing these interests and especially where it is done by working on the prejudices of the people. Party harmony demands a change, as well as the best interests of the state at large.

PRESS COMMENT

Sharon Reporter: The real trick of politics is to be able to show that you have a good thing for the people and at the same time cover up the designs you have against them.

La Crosse Chronicle: In the old political regime in Wisconsin it was the man behind the machine; in the present it is the machine behind the man. In the future, we hope, it will be neither, but instead, the men behind the principle.

Fond du Lac Reporter: There is considerable talk these days about unclean money and the microbes on a dollar bill have been estimated way up into thousands but for all that there has been no case recorded of any one who has refused a roll for fear of them.

Waukesha Freeman: Oshkosh has put in a request for the republican state convention, and it goes without the saying that many who look forward to being delegates would like to go over "and have some fun with the boys," but we are of the opinion that they will not have the opportunity this trip.

Grant County Herald: There is much agitation going on now about the inadequate wages paid the country schoolma'am. Probably she is not fairly paid, but if her wages are raised will it not make it more difficult for some nice fellow to get her for a wife? And that is the best use made of these winsome and interesting creatures. This is a point which should not be overlooked.

Appleton Crescent: The man whose youth was never mellowed by a Sunday night class stolen from not too unwilling lips has missed half his life.

Green Bay Gazette: Lake Michigan is frozen over but that is a trivial matter compared with the freezing of one little water pipe.

Beloit Free Press: It's near time for the ground hog and Saint Valentine, but if this weather continues the only thing likely to be doing business on their dates will be double basemented thermometers.

Kenosha Gazette: A girl stopped a runaway horse and saved a girl's life. Of course the girl was pretty. The discriminating judgment of Mr. Jeffries and his press agent wouldn't permit the champion to rescue any damsel, in distress, unless she was pretty.

La Crosse Leader and Press: Dr.

A. A. Ames, the worst mayor Minneapolis or any other city ever had, has been adjudged by the supreme court of Minnesota a free man. It is not contented he is an innocent man, that he did not commit the crime on which he was indicted and many other crimes on which he has not been tried, that he did not license houses of ill-fame and gambling houses and share their profits, that he was not in league with a band of robbers and that by his connivance the police were not working in conjunction with hold-up men and "graffers" of every type who might turn a dollar to the administration. All these offenses are practically admitted. The court simply objects to some of the evidence against Ames and because it was presented he is discharged.

It Ought to Make Trouble. Under the heading, "Another Letter Makes Trouble," the Milwaukee administration organ expresses the opinion that it has discovered another "chance for the stalwarts to read themselves." It refers to a letter said to have been laid before the grand jury and upon which the indictment of State Senator Eaton for bribery was founded. The organ is inclined to believe the facts relating to this letter will prove to be of as much interest to conservative republicans as were those connected with the "Mr. Sturtevant" letter. Among other things, it says:

As we wrote out to say, there was this letter, written on the professional letter head of one of the leading hairdressing artists in the city. However it was addressed, it fell into the right hands. "Uncle 'Lishie's" clerks made no mistake that time. It may have been addressed, after the fashion of some leading stalwarts, just "Mr. Eaton, Madison," but the probabilities are that it had more of an address than that on it. At any rate, it came to the hands of the senator from the seventh. This is known because it was later found, not in his hands, but in his pretty parlor, by some people who were there on another quest, and was by them confiscated.

The organ probably knows who committed the burglary to which it refers. At least it asserts that "the people" who broke into Senator Eaton's room at the Park hotel in Madison were not looking for this letter. They were there on another quest, and finding the incriminating letter, they kept it in their possession for nearly a year and then turned it over to the grand jury.

No excuse can be offered for Senator Eaton should the court find him guilty of the crime charged against him in the indictment. In that case he ought to be punished to the full extent of the law because he is a man of sufficient intelligence to appreciate the gravity of the offense. Bribes and bribed must be kept out of official positions at all hazards.

But how about "the people" who burglarized Senator Eaton's room? Burglary is a crime. "People" have no right to go into other people's "pretty parlors" on quests of any kind without the knowledge and consent of the owners. Those who have guilty knowledge of a burglary and do not disclose the facts to the authorities may be punished as accessories after the fact.

The confessions of the organ are becoming interesting. First, it confessed that it was "probable" that "Mr. Sturtevant" letter was intended for "Press Agent Sturtevant;" then it acknowledged that Judge Bancroft was guilty of a grave impropriety, it not a gross violation of the constitution and statutes when he rode on a pass while holding a state office; now it indirectly admits that it knows who burglarized the room of Senator Eaton and why they committed the crime.

It does not matter whether "the people" referred to were in Senator Eaton's room in quest of his pocket-book, his watch, private papers, cigars, whisky, extra clothing, or what not. They were there for an unlawful purpose; they secured entrance in an unlawful manner; they "confiscated" a letter of an incriminating character and kept it in their possession for many months before turning it over to the proper authorities.

It would appear, therefore, that the gang of which the Milwaukee organ is spokesman, and which works under the direction of the governor of Wisconsin, not only interests letters and rides on railroad passes contrary to law, but it also commits burglary on occasions and conceals the plunder until such time as it can make use of it. Surely this is an interesting state of affairs and the moral myopia that leads to a public acknowledgment of these departures from the rules of common decency and status—law—to least of them, in fact—is still more interesting.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

FLORIDA PHILOSOPHY.

People who fall in this life have to believe in another.

If women had a vote, some candidates would have no show.

If morality cost as much as vice, most men would esteem it less.

There is no password to success, but nothing is easier than to pass it.

If wild oats must be sown, we should confine the crop to our own land.

Matrimony covers so many sins that we are obliged to call it holy in self-defense.

Many a man has achieved a reputation for courage simply because he was afraid to run away.

Fortune may knock at a man's door but once, but the proverbial "knocker" is not so shy of his favors.

There are so many candidates nowadays that they almost hide the platform on which they are running.

When the North Pole is discovered, it will be time enough to look for the woman who doesn't think well of her form.

SHORT SENTENCE PHILOSOPHY.

It is better to collect your thoughts than to borrow other people's.

It's the worker who succeeds in life—not the fellow who is worked.

The world suspects that a man is in love before he knows it himself.

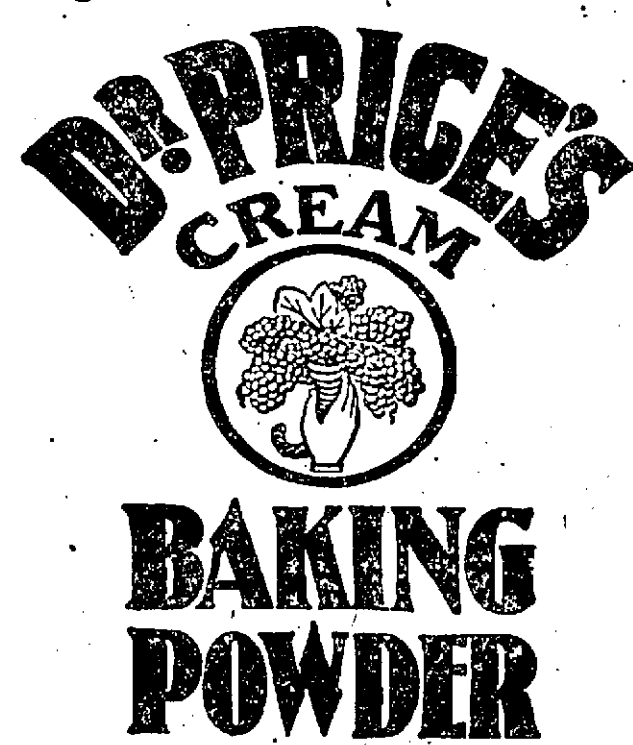

The fellow who would marry for money finds it pretty hard work.

Some men are so easy-going that after awhile they cease to go at all.

Take care of your enemies, and your friends will take care of themselves.

The people who are always looking for bargains seldom get rich as quickly as those who offer them.

YOUNG LADIES AS HOSTESSES

AT A CHARMING LEAP YEAR BALL
LAST EVENING.

APPOINTMENTS WERE PERFECT

And Every Young Man Present Was "Popular"—Smoking Room
Deserted.

"It is thumbs up," said the orchestra leader—"we must play the encore." "Wasn't that the signal sound?" queried the snare drummer. "Yes, but in this instance the Christian marietta seems not to have arrived," remarked the violinist. The young men who attended the leap year ball last evening, meek and penitent after a severe cross-examination of their consciences, gathered confidence as the night wore on and no old debts were paid, and some even dared to join in the applause which followed the close of each dance. Few observed, however, the regular system on which these encores were granted or denied.

Many Beautiful Gowns
Nearly a hundred couples had arrived at nine o'clock, and from that time on until two o'clock this morning, Central hall was a scene of swirling color, the ebullient and flowing to the music of wind-instrument, harp, and violin. Smith's orchestra, led by George Hatch, was never in better form. Many were the new and handsome gowns that made their initial appearance at this ball. White and soft blues were the predominating colors, with an occasional splash of scarlet which served to heighten the effect.

Young Men Well Treated
Throughout the evening refreshments were served to tables of four in the Caledonian rooms.

The guests partook of Caterer Shurtliff's tempting viands by the weird half-light of candles with shades of red tissue, which were placed upon each table. Contrary to report the smoking room was not closed and bottled. Nevertheless it was deserted most of the evening as every man present found to his surprise perhaps, that he was "popular." There were no "wall-flowers."

Called in Coaches.
The young ladies called for their partners in carriages but in the majority of instances sent the coachman to the door. Some, however, made amends for this by tucking the blankets about the "leap-year-man" and allowing him more than his rightful share of the foot-warmer.

Visitors Present.
To the efforts of Miss Harriet Postwick, Miss Louise Shearer, Miss Marcia Jackson, and Miss Agnes Shumway, who constituted the arrangements committee, the success of the ball was largely due. The floor managers were Miss Anne Shearer and Miss Lucetta Whitton. Mrs. George McKee and Mrs. John Rexford acted as patronesses. Among the visitors from out of the city were: Mr. and Mrs. Learned and Harry Hart of Fort Atkinson, Messrs. Charles Dow, Bigelow and Thomas Lytle of Madison, Mrs. W. P. Shattuck, Farmington, N. J., Miss Thorpe, Chicago, Mrs. Weirick of Monroe, Mrs. Conroy of Woodstock, and Mr. Porter of Philadelphia.

TO HOLD ANNUAL HOME GATHERING

The Congregational Church Members
Meet on Afternoon of Feb. 11—
Church Now 59 Years Old.

Invitations have been sent out for the annual home gathering of the Congregational church members, to be held in the church parlors Thursday afternoon, February 11. At this time reports of committees will be heard and the work of the past year taken up in detail. Supper will be served at half-past five o'clock. The meeting will signalize the fifty-ninth anniversary of the organization of the church. An afternoon and evening of rare pleasure is anticipated.

LOCAL JOTTINGS

The Fraternal Reserve: The Fraternal Reserve association will give a social including entertainment and cards at their meeting Thursday night. All members are entitled to invite their friends.

Celebrated Wedding: Mr. and Mrs. Alva Maxwell celebrated their wedding anniversary at their pleasant street home last evening.

Mistake of Mail: The committee in charge of the grand military ball of Canton, No. 9, to be held this evening wish to announce that through some mistake in the mails many persons to whom invitations were sent have not received them. The committee took this year's list from their last year's list and announce that all who were invited last year to consider them invited this year.

Tax is Not All In: Late yesterday afternoon Frank Snyder paid to the city treasurer the sum of $101.50, his tax on insurance premiums amounting to $5,092.63. This morning J. W. Scott paid $45.32 on premiums amounting to $2,265.60. The total tax paid in now amounts to $1,597.52 on total premiums amounting to $79,888.64. The Merchants & Manufacturers' Mutual Co. of Beloit is still to be heard from.

Pleasant Party: Last evening Albert Schaller, 178 Terrace St., entertained about fifteen of his young friends in a pleasing manner. The evening was spent in playing games of various kinds. Light refreshments were served during the evening and the guests departed after a most pleasant evening. Miss Gladys Headley furnished the music for the evening.

THE GROUND HOG SEES HIS SHADOW

And Scurries Back to His Hole, There to Remain for Six Long Weeks—
Coal Man is Glad.

Rock county's official ground-hog issued from his lair in the thicket near the river's banks at daylight this morning. He caught the breath of the strong north wind laden with particles of cutting snow. He shivered and blinked his eyes uncertainly. Presently in the east, bringing no appreciable heat or comfort in its train the chariot of day rose above the horizon. The ground-hog cast one hurried glance at the baleful shadow cast and scurried back to his hole. Six weeks more of cold weather! The coal man is glad!

GONE TO THE GREAT BEYOND

HORSES WILL GO UP IN VALUE

CHARLES KEMMERER SO QUOTED IN SENTINEL.

GREAT SCARCITY OF EQUINES

A Car Load for Cash Down, and the Demand is Steadily Increasing.

"Horses will be higher this year than ever before, with the exception of the years during the civil war, when they were so scarce they could hardly be secured at any price," said Charles W. Kemmerer of this city, in the Milwaukee Sentinel. Mr. Kemmerer is engaged in the livery business and is also one of the leading farmers and stock raisers in Rock county. He and his uncle, Edward Kemmerer of Independence, Ia., were in Milwaukee investigating the horse market, to determine whether it would be more profitable to buy a carload of horses here, to ship to Janesville or to ship a carload into Milwaukee from Iowa.

Got Cash Down for Horses
"We sold a carload of Iowa horses at Janesville last Saturday, and although we offered nine months' time, we received cash down for every horse we sold. We had expected to sell them to farmers who would require time, and we would have preferred it as a business investment, as men who are buying on credit will generally bid the price up. But the horses were snapped up by men who had the ready money and who realized what a good investment a horse purchased at a reasonable price is likely to prove this year. We are planning to sell another carload at Janesville next Saturday, and thought it possible that we could secure them here, as Milwaukee does not want the same kind of horses as are needed in this country. If we find a good market here, however, we will ship two carloads of horses from Iowa and bring one to Janesville and one here. By sorting the horses from the two cars we would be able to meet the needs of both places.

Are No Horses on the Market
"As soon as the spring opens up the price of horses is going up to the top notch. The reason is the same that prevailed during the war times. There are no horses on the market. They have been so cheap for several years past that every one has gone out of the business of raising them. That is always the way. Every one always quits at once and we are just beginning to feel the effect of the decision that farmers reached a few years ago, that there was no money in raising horses. A horse must be 4 years old before it is any good and it will take some time before the present scarcity will be remedied. Horses will be high and scarce for some time to come.

"A few years ago Texas horses were shipped up here by the carloads. Now such a thing is a rare occurrence. The bronchos are so treacherous that the only inducement to buy them is a ridiculously low price. The stock of bronchos has been practically exhausted and the cattle men of Texas had no money inducement to go into the business of rearing more to supply the market. Now horses are as high in Texas as anywhere. The man who has followed the policy of the farmer who got rich by sowing the seed that was cheap when all his neighbors were sowing the seed which had brought the highest price the year before, and who has been quietly raising horses for the last four or five years, will now reap the reward of his wisdom."

SUBPOENAED IN THE BLACK CASE

Sheriff Appleby Will Testify as to Character of Defendant in Assault Case in Jefferson.
Sheriff Appleby leaves tomorrow for Jefferson where he has been subpoenaed as a witness in the Black case, the trial of which opens at that time. William Black, a former teamster on the Interoceanic, is charged with assault with intent to do grievous bodily injury. The case is a curious one in some respects. On a certain day about three months ago Black asked his employer for some money that was coming to him. He was then working on a farm in Jefferson county and knew that the said employer had received $35 that day. His request was refused. That night, as the farmer was going to the barn to look after his stock, he was struck down in the darkness by a terrible blow aimed at his head. He could not identify his assailant but at once suspected Black. During the latter's incarceration his wife has been earning her living in Beloit, Black's former home. This is the only criminal case on the Jefferson calendar.

THE DOG QUESTION

To the Editor: I enclose the following clipping which speaks for itself. This condition of affairs does not exist in Janesville, but it might. The passing of an ordinance or the enforcing of the present ordinance regarding a dog tax might alleviate any fears on these grounds. I would suggest the council look into the matter.

Delafield, Wis., Feb. 1.—Delafield trustees, it is said, are being urged to order the killing of every dog in the village, owing to an epidemic of hydrophobia. Three weeks ago a strange dog bit several animals in this vicinity, disappeared, and was killed at Wales. Several dogs were later seized with symptoms of hydrophobia, among them one belonging to A. J. W. Nison. This animal was killed after it had bitten others.

It is said twenty-five dogs are affected, and every dog in the village is chained up. Many are demanding that all be killed, while the owners of valuable dogs are protesting.

Several dogs have been attacked and their clothes torn. The board will meet tomorrow to devise a means of coping with the situation, which is regarded as serious.

TWO MEN NAMED AS CANDIDATES

W. D. McComb Would Be County
Clerk—C. W. Egan County
Treasurer

County politics are becoming warm. The pot has been set upon the fire and the cozy corners of the country stores or the warm offices of the city leaders have sent forth the war cry "organize." As yet not much has been done. What is to come within the next few weeks is not known, but certainly the Irons are already shaping. Charles W. Egan of Plymouth has already announced himself as a candidate for county treasurer to succeed Miles Rice, and W. D. McComb of Lima has expressed a desire to be county clerk in place of Mr. Starr. Other aspirants for the other offices are also declaring themselves or about to do so and within a week or so it is expected that the list will be full of names of men who seek county offices.

Many Notices on Property Owners to Place Fire Escapes.

Chief Engineer Kline is a busy man these days. Personally he has inspected the majority of the buildings about the city where crowds congregate, and has decided upon those buildings where fire escapes must be placed at once. He has taken about two a day thus far and hopes before long to have the entire list he has on hand notified. He is backed in his quest for safety by the state law which requires fire escapes upon all three-story buildings used for halls or lodging purposes.

CURRENT NEWS NOTES

Car Lines Blocked: On account of the heavy winds drifting the snow the Milton avenue branch of the street car line could not be operated this morning. The Interoceanic was blocked off and all the cars were late. The snow plows cleared drifts 6 feet deep in places and the track was hardly cleared before it was buried in snow again. The schedule has not been regular at any time today and some of the cars were two hours late. The power in the city of Rockford is working badly.

About $1,400 Raised: The committee appointed to solicit for subscriptions for securing the best sugar factory are busy at work today. Two papers are being circulated—one on each side of the river and $2,500 is needed. The committee is finding hard sledding in some places. Many who were relied upon to donate have refused to do so.

Last evening a banquet was given at the Baptist church under the auspices of the Young Men's class. After the banquet a program was rendered which included interesting addresses by Rev. Vaughan and also Rev. Henderson. The latter spoke of "The Art of Living." Two selections were rendered by a double male quartette which were greatly appreciated.

Philippine Coast Line.

A geographical magazine makes the statement that the Philippine islands have a coast line double that of the main part of the United States. The measurement given is 11,444 statute miles, while the total area is stated as 115,026 square miles. In the Philippines there is one mile of coast line to every ten miles of area; in the United States the proportion is one to 555. It is said that 3,000 islands and islets can be counted on the charts.

prices May Even Be Higher, if the Extreme Cold Weather Continues.

The stretch of long and extremely cold weather has commenced to toll on the prices in the local market. Potatoes have advanced five cents within the past two weeks and are expected that eggs which are now 35 cents a dozen will go still higher in the near future. "There are practically no eggs to be purchased this side of Chicago," said a local dealer yesterday. "Eggs, both fresh and store, are very scarce at present and if we do not get a change of weather so that the hens will commence laying, the price will go still higher. We are now getting 35 cents for fresh and 35 cents for store." The dealer said that farmers have plenty of potatoes in the country, but were unable to market them on account of the cold, as they would freeze coming to town. It is expected that as soon as the weather moderates that the price will again drop to 70 or 85 cents a bushel. The other produce on the market remains about the same and are selling at the following prices:

Fresh eggs, 35c doz.
Potatoes, 75c bu.
Sweet potatoes, 5c lb.
Lettuce, 5c beh.
Cabbage, 4c lb.

CHAPTER XXXI.

THE GREAT PEACE.

Of the long and bitter journey from the Iroquois towns to Lake St. George, down the Richelieu and thence through the deep snows of the Canadian winter, it boots little to make mention; neither to tell of that devotion of Raoul de Ligny to the newly-rescued lady, already reputed in camp rumor to be of noble English family.

"That sous-lieutenant, he is tele-montee regarding madame," said Pierre L'as, one evening to Jean Breboul. "As to that—well, you know Monsieur L'as. Pouff! So much for you monkey, par comparaison."

"He is a great captain, Monsieur L'as," said Jean Breboul. "Never a better word beyond the straits."

"But very sad of late."

"Oh, oui, since the death of his friend, Monsieur le Capitaine Pembroke—may Mary aid his spirit!"

"Monsieur L'as goes not on the trail again," said Pierre L'as. "At least not while this look is in his eye."

"The more the loss, Pierre L'as; but some day the woods will call to him again. I know not how long it may be, yet some day Mother Messasabe will raise her finger and beckon to Monsieur L'as, and say: 'Come, my son!'"

"Tis thus, as you know, Pierre L'as."

Yet at length the straggling settlements at Montreal were reached, and here, after the fashion of the frontier, some sort of menage was inaugurated for Law and his party. Here they lived through the rest of the winter and through the long, slow spring.

And then set on again the heats of summer, and there came apace the time agreed upon, in the month of August, for the widely heralded assembling of the tribes for the Great Peace; one of the most picturesque and significant meetings of widely diverse human beings, that ever took place within the ken of history.

They came, these savages, now first owning the strength of the invading white men, from all the far and unknown corners of the western wilderness. They came afoot, and with little trains of dogs, in single canoes, in little groups and growing flotillas and vast fleets of canoes, pushing on and on, down stream, following the tide of the furs down this pathway of more than a thousand miles. The Iroquois, for once mindful of a promise, came in a compact fleet, a hundred canoes strong, and they stalked about the island for days, naked, stark, gigantic, contemptuous of white and red men, of friend and foe alike. The scattered Algonquins, whose villages had been razed by these same savage warriors, came down by scores out of the northern woods, along little, unknown streams, and over paths with which none but themselves were acquainted. From the north, group joined group, and village added itself to village, until a vast body of people had assembled, whose numbers would have been hard to estimate, and who proved difficult enough to accommodate. Yet farther west, adding their numbers to those already gathered, came the fleets of the Hurons, and the Ojibways, and the Miami, and the Outagamies, and the Ottawas, the Menominees and the Mascoutins—even the Illini, late objects of the wrath of the five nations. The whole western wilderness poured forth its savage population, till all the shores of the St. Lawrence seemed one vast aboriginal encampment. These massed at the rendezvous about the puny settlement of Montreal in such numbers that, in comparison, the white population seemed insignificant. Then, had there been a Pontiac or a Tecumseh, had there been one leader of the tribes able to teach the strength of unity, the white settlements of upper America had indeed been utterly destroyed. Naught but ancient tribal jealousies held the savages apart.

With these tribesmen were many prisoners, captives taken in raids all along the thin and straggling frontier; farmers and artisans, peasants and soldiers, women raped from the farms of the Richelieu centralities, and wood-rangers now grown savage as their captors and loth to leave the wild life into which they had so naturally grown. It was the first reflex of the wave, and even now the bits of fotsam and jetsam of wild life were fain to cling to the western shore whither they had been carried by the advancing flood. This was the meeting of the ebb with the sea that sent it forward, the meeting of civilized and savage, and strange enough was the nature of those confluent ideas. Whether the red men were yielding to civilization, or the whites all turning savage—this question might well have arisen to an observer of this tremendous spectacle. The wigwams of the different tribes and clans and families were grouped apart, scattered along all the narrow shore back of the great hill, and over the convent gardens; and among these stalked the native French, clad in coarse cloth of blue, with gaudy belt and buckskins, and cap of fur and moccasins of hide, mingling fraternally with their tufted and bejaunted visitors, as well as with those rangers, both envied and hated, the savage courcours de bois of the far northern fur trade; men bearded, silent, stern, clad in breech-cloth and leggings like any savage, as silent, as stoical, as hardy on the trail as on the narrow thwart of the canoe.

Savage feasting, rioting and drunkenness, and loud debaucheries came with the Great Peace, when once the word had gone out that the fur trade was to be resumed. Henceforth there was to be peace. The French were no longer to raid the little cabins along the Kennebec and the Penobscot. The river Richelieu was to be no longer a red war trail. The English were no longer to offer arms and blankets for the beaver, belonging by right of prior discovery to those who offered French brandy and French beads. The Iroquois were no longer to pursue a timid foe across the great prairies of the valley of the Messasabe. The Ojibways were not to ambush the scattered parties of the Iroquois. The ambitious colonists of New England and New York were to be left to till their stony farms in quiet. Meantime, the fur trade, wasteful, licentious, unprofitable, was to extend onward and outward in all the marches of the West. From one end of the Great River of the West to the other the insignia of France and of France's king were to be erected, and France's posts were to hold all the ancient trails. Even at the mouth of the Great River, forestalling these sullen English and these sluggish English colonists, far to the south in the somber forests and miasmatic marshes, there was to be established one more ruling point for the arms of Louis the Grand. It was a great game this, for which the continent of America was in preparation. It was a mighty thing, this gathering of the Great Peace, this time when colonists and their king were seeing the first breaking of the wave on the shore of an empire alluring, wonderful, unparalleled.

Into this wild rabble of savages and citizens, of priest and soldier and courier, Law's friends, Pierre L'as and Jean Breboul, swiftly disappeared, naturally, fitly and unavoidably. "The West is calling to us, Monsieur," said Pierre L'as one morning, as he stood looking out across the river. "I hear once more the spirits of the Messasabe. Monsieur, will you come?"

Law shook his head. Yet two days later, as he stood at that very point, there came to him the silent feet of two courcours instead of one. Once more he heard in his ear the question: "Monsieur L'as, will you come?"

At this voice he started. In an instant his arms were about the neck of Du Mesne, and tears were falling from the eyes of both in the welcome of that brotherhood which is admitted only by those who have known together arms and danger and hardship, the touch of the hard ground and the sight of the wide blue sky.

"Du Mesne, my friend!"

"Monsieur L'as!"

"It is as though you came from the depths of the sea, Du Mesne!" said Law.

"And as though you yourself arose from the grave, Monsieur!"

"How did you know?"

"Why, easily. You do not understand the ways of the wilderness, where news travels as fast as in the cities. You were hardly before the foot of Michigan before runners from the Illini had spread the news along the Chicago, where I was then in camp. For the rest, the runners brought also news of the Big Peace. I reasoned that the Iroquois would not dare to destroy their captives, that in time the agents of the government would receive the captives of the Iroquois—that these captives would naturally come to the settlements on the St. Lawrence, since it was the French against whom the Iroquois had been at war; that having come to Montreal, you would naturally remain here for a time. The rest was easy. I fared on to the straits this spring, and then on down the lakes. I have sold our furs, and am now ready to account to you with a sum quite as much as we should have expected."

"Now, Monsieur," and Du Mesne stretched out his arm again, pointing to the down-coming flood of the St. Lawrence, "Monsieur, will you come? I see not the St. Lawrence, but the Messasabe. I can hear the voices calling!"

Law dashed his hand across his eyes and turned his head away. "Not yet, Du Mesne," said he. "I do not know. Not yet. I must first go across the waters. Perhaps sometime—I can not tell. But this, my comrades, my brothers, I do know; that never, until the last sod lies on my grave, will I forget the Messasabe, or forget you. Go back, if you will, my brothers; but at night, when you sit by your fireside, think of me, as I shall think of you, there in the great valley. My friends, it is the heart of the world!"

"But, Monsieur—"

"There, Du Mesne—I would not talk to-day. At another time, Brothers, adieu!"

"Adieu, my brother," said the courier, his own emotion showing in his eyes; and his hands were again.

"Monsieur is cast down," said Du Mesne to Pierre L'as later, as they reached the beach. "Now, what think you?"

"Usually, as you know, Pierre, it is a question of some woman. It reminds me, Wabana was remiss enough when I left her among the Illini with you. Now, God bless my heart, I find her—how think you? With her crucifix lost, cooking for a dirty Ojibway!"

"Mary Mother!" said Pierre L'as, "if it be a matter of a woman—well, God help us all! At least 'tis something that will take Monsieur L'as over seas again."

"'Tis mostly a woman," mused Du Mesne; "but this passeth my wit."

"True, they pass the wit of all. Now, did I ever tell thee about the mission girl at Michillimackinac—but stay! That for another time. They tell me that our comrade, Greysolon du Lhut, is expected in to-morrow with a party from the far end of Superior. Come, let us have the news."

"Toys les printemps, Tant des nouvelles," hummed Du Mesne, as he flung his arm above the shoulder of the other; and the two so disappeared down the beach.

Dully, apathetically, Law lived on his life here at Montreal for yet a time, at the edge of that wilderness which had proved all else but Eden. Near to him, though in these guarded times guest by necessity of the good sisters of the Convent, dwelt Mary Conynge. And as for these two, it might be said that each had bided the time. To her Law might as well have been one of the corded Sulpician priests; and she to him, for all he liked, one of the nuns of the Convent garden. What did it all mean; where was it all to end? He asked himself a thousand times; and a thousand times his mind failed him of any answer. He waited, watching the great encampment disappear, first slowly, then swiftly and suddenly, so that in a night the last of the lodges had gone and the last canoe had left the shore. There remained only the hurrying flood of the St. Lawrence, coming from the west.

The autumn came on. Early in November the ships would leave for France. Yet before the beginning of November there came swiftly and sharply the settlement of the questions which racked Law's mind. One morning Mary Conynge was missing from the Convent, nor could any of the sisters nor the mother superior, explain how or when she had departed!

Yet, had there been close observers, there might have been seen a boat dropping down the river on the early morning of that day. And at Quebec there was later reported in the books of the Intendant the shipping, upon the good bark Dauphine, of Lieutenant Raoul de Ligny, sometime officer of the regiment Carignan, formerly stationed in New France; with him a lady recently from Montreal, known very well to Lieutenant de Ligny and his family; and to be in his care en voyage to France; the name of said lady illegible upon the records, the spelling apparently not having suited the clerk who wrote it, and then forgot it in the press of other things.

Certain of the governor's household, as well as two or three habitants from the lower town, witnessed the arrival of this lady, who came down from Montreal. They saw her take boat for the bark Dauphine, one of the last ships to go down the river that fall. Yes, it was easily to be established. Dark, with singular, brown eyes, petite, yet not over small, of good figure—assuredly so much could be said; for obviously the king, kindly as he might feel toward the colony of New France, could not send out, among the young women supplied to the colonists as wives, very many such demurettes as this; otherwise assuredly all France would have followed the king's ships to the St. Lawrence.

John Law, a grave and saddened man, yet one now no longer lacking in decision, stood alone one day at the parapet of the great rock of Quebec, gazing down the broad expanse of the stream below. He was alone except for a little child, a child too young to know her mother, had death or disaster at that time removed the mother. Law took the little one up in his arms and gazed hard upon the upturned face.

"Catharine!" he said to himself. "Catharine! Catharine!"

"Pardon, monsieur," said a voice at his elbow. "Surely I have seen, you before this?"

Law turned. Joncaire, the ambassador of peace, stood by, smiling and extending his hand.

"Naturally, I could never forget you," said Law.

"Monsieur looks at the shipping," said Joncaire, smiling. "Surely he would not be leaving New France, after so luckily escaping the worst of her dangers?"

"Life might be the same for me over there as here," replied Law. "As for my luck, I must declare myself the most unfortunate man on earth."

"Your wife, perhaps, is ill?"

"Pardon, I have none."

"Pardon, in turn, monsieur—but, you see—the child?"

"It is the child of a savage woman," said Law.

Joncaire pulled aside the infant's hood. He gave no sign, and a nice indifference sat in his query: "Une belle sauvage?"

"Belle sauvage!"

CROP WITHOUT SNOW COVERING

Southern Portion of Winter Wheat Belt Lacks Nature's Blanket.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Following is the monthly crop report issued by the agricultural department:

"January, 1904, was unusually mild in the upper Missouri valley and in the northern Rocky mountain and north Pacific coast districts, but decidedly cold east of the Mississippi river, with generally deficient precipitation, although a narrow area extending from Oklahoma to southern New England, northern Florida and a few other limited areas received more than the average."

"Over the southern portions of the winter wheat belt winter wheat was largely without snow protection until near the close of the month, when the northern, central and eastern portions were well covered. In the middle Atlantic states and portions of the Ohio and central Mississippi valleys the crop suffered as a result of protracted cold and absence of snow covering during a large part of the month."

Historic Church Restored.

A religious ceremony has just been performed in a remarkable church in the heart of Milton Abbey Woods, Dorset, England. The little church was erected there in the year 938 by King Athelstan and dedicated to St. Catherine, and until the reformation was regularly used by the monks of Milton. Thenceforth it fell into disuse, and in process of time into desecration. In turn it was utilized as a pigeon-house, as a laborer's cottage, as a carpenter's shop and as a lumber store, and was rapidly falling into decay when Everard Hambro, the lord of the manor, resolved to restore it. The restoration was completed about a week ago, but has been so reverently done that most of the old Saxon, Norman and perpendicular work it contained remains intact, and an incised "indulgence" inscription on its south door has been perfectly preserved.

Resented Change in Alphabets.

A singular war has been waged in Bosnia recently. Both sides to the controversy speak the same language—Croat—but they write it with different alphabets, the Catholics with Roman letters and those of the orthodox Greek church with the Cyrillic. To simplify the task of the public teacher, the Austrian government directed that the Latin alphabet should alone be used in schools. The innovation provoked a loud outcry from the orthodox Greek parsons, who deemed it a blow to their religion. The government had to yield.

VERY ANNOYING.

This Hardly Expresses What Janesville People Say of It.

Any itchininess of the skin is annoying.

Little danger in itching skin diseases.

But they make you miserable.

Doan's Ointment is a never-failing cure.

For Piles, Eczema, all itching troubles.

Janesville citizens endorse it.

L. Lawrence of 408 S. Franklin St., engineer at the Janesville Electric Light Co., says: "I tried about everything recommended for itchininess of the skin, but found nothing to give me relief until I struck Doan's Ointment at the People's drug store. I had an affection of the skin on my face, caused from the burning oil about the engine and dynamo. My face itched and annoyed me, and rubbing it only made it worse and made it sore. I could hardly stand shaving for the skin broke and bled. A few applications of Doan's Ointment removed the itchininess and healed up my face in a few days. I would not be without this remedy in my house and I certainly recommend it to others in need of such a preparation."

Sold for 50 cents per box by all dealers. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

High Class Druggists AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup"—and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, February 2, 1864.—Box for the 12th Battery.—We are requested to say that the box for the 12th Battery at Curtis' drug store will not be sent till Thursday next, instead of Wednesday, as published yesterday.

Janesville Sunday School Union.—In answer to a call through the Gazette, the friends and advocates of Sunday schools met at the lecture rooms of the Baptist church on Monday evening. The usual officers being named the formation of the City S. S. Union was generally discussed and agreed upon. The superintendents of the Sunday schools of the city with Mr. Henry Pullam as chairman, were made a committee to draft a constitution and report to an adjourned meeting to be held at the same place on Monday evening, Feb. 8th, at 7:30 o'clock.

A Paper Mill.—We have often wondered why there was not a paper mill in this city. There is no better location for one in the state. There is abundance of water power to be used in the manufacture of paper so clear and nice, and the railroad facilities for transporting material and shipping paper from the mills are as good as the best. Yet while Beloit has two or three mills in successful operation, Rockton, nearly Beloit, one or two, and Whitewater one, this place has none. We have several things heard of men "prospecting" here for a site of a mill, but for some reason or other the enterprise ended there. We could invite the attention of capitalists to this matter; they cannot find a better location.

New York, Feb. 2.—Richmond papers contain an account of the running ashore and burning by her crew, of the blockade runner Vesta, with a valuable cargo of army supplies, including a splendid uniform for Gen. Lee from his admirer in London. This occurred near Wilmington on the 10th of January. The Vesta was a new double screw steamer on her first voyage.

St. Louis, Feb. 2.—Both houses adjourned yesterday to attend the funeral of Gov. Gamble in this city tomorrow.

Mobile, Jan. 25.—Twenty transports have passed down the Mississippi within the past two days. Gen. Sherman and his staff accompanied them.

ward Lourdes from all parts of Europe, swelling as they roll along, and engulfing all conditions of men, from the poor laborer who limps on foot to the heir of a proud title in the British peerage.

On the evening before the pilgrims' departure a service of blessing is held in the cathedral. A shrine draped in light blue is set up near the choir and lighted by hundreds of candles, so that a brilliant shimmering light is thrown far down the aisles.

The next morning all the town assemblies to see the pilgrims start. It is a strangely pathetic sight, upon which the glamor of long ago and the hard light of the 20th century fall and mingle and become one. It is the faith of the misty ages that goes to drink of a far-off well, but it is an uncompromising fact of today when the sick and dying set forth upon a journey of 400 miles.

There is a long train of thirty carriages, drawn by two engines. Many of the pilgrims for the mercy of our Lady of Lourdes come in upon crutches, others more helpless still are born in litters, their faces white as the litter sheets. Sisters of Charity accompany them, to make the hard ride as bearable as possible. It can never be easy, for the train is chiefly made up of third-class carriages, with wooden seats.

Those who falter in the struggle for a 10-cent capital, live in caves dug out of the earth, with a hole for the escape of smoke, yet even they are cheerful, at least till they are old. They comfort themselves in their blitheness by remembering how St. Martin, the patron of Tours, was also a cave-dweller for seven years. This holy cavern, which is now a chapel, is shown just outside the walls of Tours. It stands in the garden of the convent of Marmoutier, where the nuns keep a school, and it is exhibited by a brisk middle-aged peasant, a woman of course, clad in a blue short gown and a lively cap.

The autumn days are good to pass in Tours, because the heat of summer gives way to delicious weather, and in September falls the fete of Notre Dame de Lourdes.

It is not yet fifty years ago, so runs the story, that the Blessed Virgin appeared in a vision to a dreamy, devout little girl of the country lying in the spurs of the Pyrenees and showed her a spring of water which should henceforth have power to heal all manner of disease.

It was the far-sighted Louis XI who began this alliance of the cottage and the throne. He made actual his theory of strengthening the monarchy against the overbearing nobles, for he came to live among the people. His terrible castle of Plessis-Tours, with its dreadful memories, has fallen to ruins; a cowshed and an uncertain tower are all that remain of it, but its influence lasted through the reigns of seven kings.

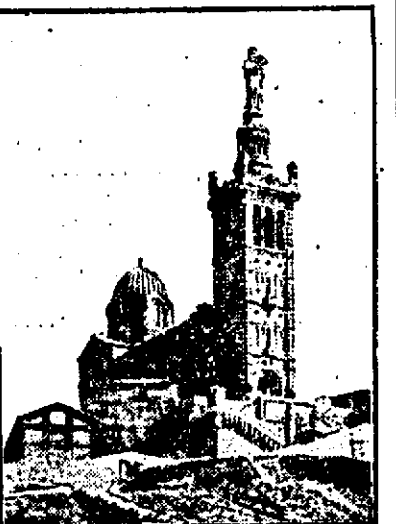

One by one royal pleasure-houses rose along the banks of the Loire. It is interesting to read the evolution of manners in the transition of their architecture, from the frowning bastions of Loches, where Louis XI went to breathe fresher air, to Chenonceaux, which is a pearl of French renaissance.

Various fates have befallen the old country palaces. Chinon is half-demolished, and only a stone cellar remains of the room where Charles VII gave his first audience to Jeanne d'Arc. Blois is held by the government, and has been restored, till the porcupine of Louis XII and the salamander of Francis I bristle and flame clearly once more from each exquisite pinnacle and lovely doorway. Two or three have been bought by rich Americans, and still shelter a gay summer life, while Chambord is as waste and desolate as the Bourbon claim to French control.

Tours is now fairly given over to the peasants, and they support its tradition of bright contentment, even in hard conditions. It is a very sunny country. When the monarchy grew poor, it cut down the royal timber, until now a "forest" really means a low scrub growth, traversed by straight white roads. The people work hard and continuously, yet he is considered well-to-do

In the 13th century little Bernadette Soubrons would have won instant credence for her story, but it has been the province of the 19th century to doubt. The priests hesitated and charges of insincerity were cast upon Bernadette, but so fully did the sparkling water testify to the miracle, how blessing that the church was overcome, added its benediction to that of heaven, and bowed humbly before a revelation uttered, as so many times before, through peasant lips.

In the favored time of September streams of pilgrims begin to flow to

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the powerful, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

DECIDES BOND CASE.

North Dakota Wins in Suit Against North Carolina.
Washington, Feb. 2.—South Dakota won her case against North Carolina in a decision handed down by the United States supreme court. The case involved the validity of a mortgage on stock of the North Carolina Railroad company given by the state of North Carolina to secure the payment of state bonds in aid of the road in 1867. South Dakota holds ten bonds of $1,000 each under a gift from Simon Schaffer and Samuel M. Schaffer of New York city, the amount due on the bonds and coupons attached being $27,000. The decision marks a new departure in ordering the sale of property in dispute in case of failure to satisfy a judgment. Justice Brewer said there was "no reasonable doubt of the validity of the bonds and mortgages in controversy," nor "question respecting the title of South Dakota to the bonds" and he asserted the jurisdiction of the court in cases brought by one state against another to enforce property rights. There are about $250,000 worth of other bonds outstanding.

HITS THE DEMOCRATS.
Grosvener Says They Are Making Votes for Republicans.
Washington, Feb. 2.—Representative Grosvener of Ohio, discussing the Panama question in the House, said that if ever there was a subject worn threadbare "until it became odious to the ears and obnoxious to the nostrils of the American people it has been this endless and infernal iteration of a lot of platitudes about recognition of the Panama republic." "You Democrats are in a position now," he continued, "if you will call off a few more leaders and get rid of them, to give us a whole lot of trouble in the coming summer and fall. But do not come to us with an endorsement of any man's speech, whether a representative or a senator, that undertakes to condemn the United States in its action in the matter of the Panama Canal. If you do there will not be enough left of you in November to make a respectable funeral procession." The brightest star in the galaxy that today shines upon the pathway of the candidate of the Republican party is his course in the Panama Canal question.

Passes Hayti Treaty.
Washington, Feb. 2.—In executive session the Senate ratified the naturalization treaty between the United States and Hayti. Six votes were cast in opposition. The treaty is different from the usual naturalization treaties in that instead of extending naturalization rights it abridges them. It provides that citizens of Hayti who may be naturalized in the United States and then return to Hayti shall cease to be considered citizens of this country after the absence of five years. Senator Cullom read a letter from Secretary Hay saying the special reason for the five-year provision was found in the complaint from Hayti that under existing conditions some Haytians come to the United States and remain long enough to become naturalized, returning to their own country to foment trouble and then take refuge under their American citizenship.

Accepts Marquette Statue.
Washington, Feb. 2.—Acceptance of the statue of Father Marquette is an accomplished fact. The Senate, upon motion of Senator Charles of Wisconsin, adopted the resolution which passed the House accepting the statue and tendering the thanks of Congress to the State of Wisconsin. Thus, after several years of bitter fighting, the statue becomes the property of Congress and is given an official place among the collection in Statuary Hall.

YOUR PROTECTION IS OUR GAIN

Do you believe that we can afford to sell you something you don't want or that will not give you satisfaction? Our business depends on pleased customers. In fact any business does. Therefore we would take an enormous risk did we not fulfill every promise made in the columns of this newspaper.

With this point in mind—let us ask what risk you take in buying Rexall Mucu-Tone when we say we will give back your money if the remedy doesn't give satisfaction.

If we didn't believe that 98 per cent. of all who have taken Mucu-Tone have been benefited, we would not publish this advertisement.

There are any number of people right here at home who will gladly testify to Mucu-Tone's wonderful virtues, and if you call we'll gladly refer you to them. Read what Mr. Matt. Dillon writes:

"My little girl had catarrh so badly that the disease had begun to eat into the cartilage of the nose. Snuffs and instruments failed to do more than give temporary relief. I saw the advertisements of Mucu-Tone, but I could not believe that anything taken in the stomach could cure the sore membranes of the nose. However, I took advantage of your free trial offer and my girl began taking your remedy according to directions. I want to say right here that Mucu-Tone is certainly the greatest medical discovery of the times, and to thank you for the liberal offer that first induced me to give it a trial. Mucu-Tone has cured my daughter's catarrh completely. The discharge has stopped altogether and her breath is as sweet as can be. Again thanking you, MATT. DILLON, 24 N. Swans St., Albany, N. Y."

If you suffer from any of the following symptoms we know that Mucu-Tone will immediately cure you. If it doesn't it's our loss, not yours.

Run down—can't work—feel constantly tired—have no appetite—or if you suffer from sore lungs, weakness, nervousness, pains in the stomach or back, then it is that you need Rexall Mucu-Tone.

Catarrh is not confined to the nose and throat. It may start there, but it leads to more serious trouble, particularly to the wasting away of tissues, which means a loss in weight. One bottle of Mucu-Tone will start you on the right road. It will put flesh on your bones and bring new vitality to your system.

Sold only at our store. Large bottle, 89 cents.

Important to Women!

EVERY WOMAN knows that the secret of a successful and happy life lies in preserving the charms she already has, or in restoring those she has lost. She may have the sweetest disposition in the world, but unless nature has bestowed upon her a clear complexion, rounded features, a well-turned neck and beautiful bust she is seriously handicapped. Men are attracted and held by these charms, and she is a wise woman who will strive by every means to preserve or restore these blessings.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD
should be used by every Woman who has the least desire to be attractive. It is the only preparation that will round out hollowed, thin cheeks or scrawny neck with FIRM, HEALTHY FLESH and REMOVE WRINKLES from the face and hands, no matter how deep the furrow.

FOR DEVELOPING THE IMMATURE BUST
or to make the breast firm, large and beautiful; nothing can equal it. To prevent the breasts from shrinking mothers should always use Dr. Charles' Flesh Food after weaning baby. It will also restore a bosom to its natural contour and beauty lost through this cause.

SPECIAL OFFER.
The regular price of Dr. Charles' Flesh Food is $1.00 a box, but to introduce it into thousands of new homes we have decided to send two (2) boxes to all who answer this advertisement and send us $1.00. All packages are sent in plain wrapper, postage prepaid.

FREE. A sample box—just enough to convince you of the great merit of Dr. Charles' Flesh Food—will be sent free for 10 cents, which pays for cost of mailing. We will also send you our illustrated book, "Art of Massage," which contains all the proper movements for massaging the face, neck and arms, and full directions for developing the bust. Address, DR. CHARLES CO., 19 PARK PLACE, NEW YORK.

A PARSON'S PREDICAMENT.

How Rev. Dr. Vandewater Was Placed in an Unpleasant Situation.

Friends of Rev. Dr. George R. Vandewater, rector of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal church, New York, are concerned over the position in which the clergyman is placed as a result of a decree of divorce recently granted to Mrs. Adele F. Watt against her husband, A. Watt.

Dr. Vandewater was named as co-respondent in a counter suit brought by Mr. Watt against his wife for absolute divorce and under the laws of New York was entitled to offer testimony to disprove the charge against him. Notwithstanding that the clergyman had demanded the opportunity to clear his sence from his church at the opening of the Spanish war and went to Cuba as chaplain of the Seventy-first regiment. After the war was over several members of the regiment said uncomplimentary things about him, and he resigned. Later the vestrymen of St. Andrew's adopted resolutions praising his conduct on the battlefield and at home.

REV. DR. GEORGE R. VANDEWATER.

name of the blot put upon it, the case was tried in secret before a referee in another county, thus depriving him of the opportunity of defending himself further than he has done by filing in court a sworn denial of the charges.

Rev. Dr. George R. Vandewater is one of the most prominent clergymen of the church in New York. He was born in Flushing, N. Y., forty-nine years ago, attended the Flushing Institute and was graduated from Cornell university in 1874. His theological alma mater is the General Seminary of the State of New York, where he completed his course in 1877. The following year he was sent to take charge of a small parish at Oyster Bay. In three years he had built up a wide reputation as an organizer and a powerful preacher.

In 1886 Bishop Potter appointed Dr. Vandewater head missionary for the United States, and in that capacity he traveled extensively throughout the country. The following year he accepted a call to St. Andrew's and immediately set about the work of building a new church. He is a trustee of Cornell university and since 1892 has been chaplain of Columbia university. Dr. Vandewater obtained leave of ab-was a member of the civil service commission. Previous to his going to Washington he was engaged in the practice of law with his brother, Harry A. Garfield, in Cleveland. He also served a term as state senator and has long been a notable figure in Ohio political circles. He is said to greatly resemble his father and has won his way through sheer force of ability.

It is said that when the president and William Dudley Foulke were talking about nominating a commissioner Mrs. Roosevelt remarked, "I know just the man for civil service commissioner." "Who?" asked the president. "She whispered a name in his ear. 'Just the man,' said the president, and Garfield was appointed.

Prefer American Girls.

Women from nearly all countries are constantly arriving in Manila in search of work, but it is said that few of them are from the United States.

American girls are in demand there, and especially stenographers and typewriters, who receive larger salaries than they do in America. It is noticed that most of the "want ads" say "American girl preferred."

After the Big Sale

A final clean up of remnants, odd lots and broken assortments in all departments. This sale offers even greater economic possibilities than the big sale itself.

THURSDAY, FEB. 4th the BIG SALE OPENS

Continuing till February 14th

Our January Sale proved a great success. It was given for the sole object of turning winter goods into money. We lived up to every statement and people made no complaints. One result of the sale was the accumulation of Thousands of Remnants. What we now propose to do is to offer

The Remnants and Odd Lots at figures that will clean up everything left from the sale

Odd Lots of Silks and Dress Goods

We don't want to inventory these odd lots. Our prices should turn them into cash in short order.

No Furs To Be Carried Over

This opportunity to buy furs should not be missed. Rather have the cash than the goods, hence the liberal reductions.

The Winter Garments Again Price Reduced

In no section of the store will you find the bargains more tempting. Scores of our customers have been waiting for just this chance.

A Sale of Odd Lots of Blankets and Comfortables

Only a few of a kind. Some of the blankets are soiled and mused from handling; this makes the price cut all the deeper.

Broken Lots of Warm Winter Underwear

These have been bunched for easy choosing. If your size and kind is here, then you buy at less than the price of production.

Other Left Overs from About the Store

It takes but a short time to find them, and you'll find it time well spent—
